FREEZING RAIN, SLEET GLAZE COUNTY WITH ICE ON SUNDAY

Saturday's showers turned to sleet and freezing rain early that evening and glazed the county with a coating of ice that made travel hazardous, closed many rural churches Sunday and kept some schools closed today.

State Highways Department crews battled the ice through Saturday night, all day Sunday and then Sunday night and this morning gave principal attention to scattering antiskid materials on secondary roads as many school buses began operations.

SNOW AT YORK SPRINGS

Many instances of skidding were reported as well as several traffic accidents but the hazardous driving passed without any serious mishaps.

The York Springs section got about two inches of snow Saturday evening and snowplows operated in that section but for most of the county the freezing rain and sleet coated all outdoors with about a half inch of ice.

Charles N. Lightner, superintendent of maintenance of Adams County highways, estimated that 300 tons of salt and calcium were mixed with 1,200 to 1,300 tons of antiskid material used in the weekend operations. Some of the material was trucked from the main garage on the Fairfield Rd. west of here and other trucks were supplied at Mt. Newman, Cross Keys and York Springs.

FREEZING MIST SUNDAY

Most of the heavy dual-wheeled state trucks had no difficulty in hauling their cargoes, to hills, intersections and curves, the first areas to get attention, but some of the smaller trucks that traveled without chains had trouble on hills. In some instances, the trucks had to back up the hill to spread the cinders ahead of their own wheels.

Saturday's rain and the sleet Sunday night accumulated to six-tenths of an inch of water at The Gettysburg Times weather station Sunday morning. Another nine hundredths of an inch accumulated from Sunday's freezing mist.

Sunday's temperatures remained below freezing here until some time in the afternoon. Moderating temperatures over Sunday night help loosen some of the ice. At 8:30 a.m. today The Times weather station showed a temperature of 36 degrees.

SOME SCHOOLS CLOSED

The Delone Catholic High School, Gettysburg Parochial, Conewago Twp. schools, St. Joseph's Academy and the McSherrytown Parochial School did not open this morning but Gettysburg's public schools and other public schools throughout the county were in session although some bus drivers encountered travel troubles on some rural roads. One Mt. Joy Twp. bus was off the road five times this morning as it covered its route.

At Fairfield, the school opening was delayed until 10 a.m. to allow buses more time for their icy routes.

PARK SERVICE ASKS $27,300 OF NEW BUDGET

President Johnson today asked Congress for a $27,300 appropriation for the Gettysburg National Military Park to improve entrance stations, repair the roof of the new Visitor Center and rehabilitate monuments on the battlefield.

The local request is part of a $120,718,000 budget for use starting July 1 in 11 new parks and two recreation areas, including Allegheny Portage National Historical Site and the Johnstown Flood National Memorial.

Park Superintendent Kittridge A. Wing said the appropriation asked for the Gettysburg park includes $10,000 to convert two information stations on the battlefield into permanent stations, $12,000 for repairs to the roof of the Visitor Center and $5,000 to clear and restore monuments on the battlefield. He said the preliminary estimate was submitted to the National Park Service two years ago and added that the local authorities already are at work preparing an estimate of funds needed for 1967.

PERMANENT BOOTHS

Wing said that temporary information stations were erected last year at the Lincoln Highway West ranger station and the Emmitsburg Rd. station. The wooden structures will be replaced by permanent stations under the new budget, which will provide $5,000 for each unit.

The repairs to the Visitor Center are necessary to prevent leakage from the cooling pools

President Sends Budget Of Almost $100 Billion To Congress Noon Today

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson sends to Congress today the cost estimate for launching his "Great Society"—a fiscal 1966 budget approaching $100 billion.

It calls for repeal and reduction of excise taxes which administration sources have estimated at around $1.5 billion, to stimulate the economy and rid the business of troublesome and inequitable "nuisance" levies.

The revenue loss will contribute to another year of red-ink federal financing, but officials have predicted that the deficit for the year starting next July 1 will be somewhat smaller than this year's.

The President is known to have carved about $10 billion from agency requests submitted last fall. Government sources foresee a spending total midway between $99 billion and $100 billion.

This cost-cutting achievement

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill lay at rest today while the world awaited the somber magnificence of a state funeral he planned for himself.

Monarchs, presidents and veteran statesmen will follow his coffin on its last journey Saturday.

Churchill died shortly after 8 a.m. — 3 a.m., EST — Sunday at No. 28 Hyde Park Gate, the London house in which he had lived since retiring from the premiership in 1955. Two months past his 90th birthday, he had suffered a stroke nine days before. Medical experts said he died peacefully and without pain.

TRIBUTES FLOW IN

As the world's tributes flowed in for the greatest Englishman of modern times, friends revealed that he first started planning his funeral ceremony during World War II.

In December 1943, he was in Cairo after talks with President Roosevelt and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and caught a cold which turned to pneumonia.

Half jokingly he told aides: "They'll have to give me a state funeral. President Roosevelt will have to come to London to attend it."

"FUNERAL BOOK"

From this remark grew Churchill's "funeral book," laying down the procedure he wanted followed and even detailing the names of military units which should attend.

In 1954 he returned to the exercise. Some details inevitably were changed but the outline remained, including a funeral progress up the Thames River of the kind accorded in 1805 to Admiral Lord Nelson, hero of Britain's naval victories over the French.

Determined that everything should go without a hitch, he toured the route the cortege will take. The route is a study in stone of Churchill's life.

LIE IN STATE

From the house where he spent his last years in London, the coffin will go on Wednesday to Westminster Hall, the ancient seat of England's freedoms, adjoining the House of Commons which was his stage.

There it will lie in state for three days. Then through Whitehall, the seat of government, and past his old residence as prime minister, at No. 10 Downing Street.

At the head of Whitehall stands the Admiralty, always Churchill's favorite government office, and Trafalgar Square with its soaring statue of Nelson.

TO FLEET STREET

On down the Strand, with memories here of Churchillian nights out at the Savoy Grill and the now vanished Romano's, favorite haunt of Edwardian London.

Then into Fleet Street, London's newspaper row to which Churchill turned for a platform and for income in his youth and again in the years of political eclipse after World War I.

Finally to St. Paul's, Sir Christopher Wren's domed masterpiece where Britain traditionally takes leave of its heroes.

UP THE THAMES

From St. Paul's the cortege will travel to the Thames. In the shadow of the tower Churchill's coffin will be put aboard a barge to travel up river to a pier near Waterloo Station.

Here the public ceremonial ends. The family will join the coffin on a private train and Churchill will be buried near his parents in a village churchyard in the heart of England.

Parliament was called together this afternoon to hear political leaders' tributes to Churchill and give formal approval to Queen Elizabeth's request that the funeral be made a state occasion.

This approval is automatic. It is technically necessary since the funeral will involve some

Other Costs Offset Lower Light Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has saved some money by turning off the White House lights. But it seems other expenses have risen, and the costs of the executive mansion are just where they were.

The budget says the cost of keeping up the mansion for the present fiscal year, including the light bulbs, is estimated at $694,000. For the next fiscal year the estimate is exactly the same.

Cost Of Oratory Reaches New High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of oratory is steadily rising. In the old days, Daniel Webster could sound off endlessly, and the cost to the taxpayers was negligible.

But look at these figures from President Johnson's budget: The Government Printing Office estimates expenditures this fiscal year 1964 — $17,064,000; 1965 — $18,061,000; 1966 — $20,000,000.

37 Matriculated At Seminary Today

Stroup Jr., the dean of students, presented the group for matriculation to the seminary president, Dr. Donald R. Heiges. The matriculation service is conducted in the second quarter of each year after the beginning students have completed one quarter of studies. Their matriculation declaration is as follows: "Desiring to complete my preparation for service to the Church of Christ, I promise to give myself to the discipline of theological study in this seminary, to seek and to wait humbly upon God's gifts of grace and to strive to become a faithful servant of my Lord."

CHERISHED U. S. 'CITIZENSHIP' GIVEN IN 1963

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill looked upon his honorary American citizenship as an honor "without parallel" which he said would always be proudly remembered by his descendants.

Congress granted the unique distinction to the great British statesman less than two years ago. In a ceremony in the White House rose garden on April 9, 1963, President John F. Kennedy signed the bill and proclaimed Churchill's citizenship.

"By adding his name to our rolls," Kennedy said, "we mean to honor him — but his acceptance honors us far more. For no statement or proclamation can enrich his name — the name Sir Winston Churchill is already legend."

NAME IS LEGEND

Churchill — who died Sunday at 90 — was unable to attend the 1963 White House ceremony. In a message read by his son, Randolph, he recalled his American ancestry — his mother was an American, Brooklyn-born Jennie Jerome — and said:

"I am, as you know, half American by blood, and the story of my association with that mighty and benevolent nation goes back nearly 90 years to the day of my father's marriage. In this century of storm and tragedy I contemplate with high satisfaction the constant factor of the interwoven and upward progress of our peoples."

WATCHED ON T V

Sir Winston watched by television, sent across the Atlantic via an orbiting satellite, as Kennedy said:

"In naming him an honorary citizen, I only propose a formal recognition of the place he has long since won in the history of freedom and in the affections of my and now his fellow countrymen."

"Whenever and wherever tyranny threatened, he has always championed liberty."

"Facing firmly toward the future, he has never forgotten the past."

SERVED 6 KINGS

"Serving six monarchs of his native Great Britain, he has served all men's freedom and dignity."

"In the dark days and darker nights when Britain stood alone — and most men save Englishmen despaired of England's life — he mobilized the English language and sent it into battle. The incandescent quality of his words illuminated the courage of his countrymen."

KENNEDY CONCLUDED:

"Now his stately ship of life, having weathered the severest storms of a troubled century, is anchored in tranquil waters, proof that courage and faith and the zest for freedom are truly indestructible. The record of his triumphant passage will inspire free hearts for all time."

BURY MRS. SLAGLE

Funeral services for Mrs. William J. Slagle, 78, Hanover R. 5, who died Thursday evening at her home, were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Fred F. Feiser Funeral Home in New Oxford with the Rev. Howard J. McCarney, Hanover, officiating.

Interment was made in Rest Haven Cemetery in Hanover. The pallbearers were Howard Danner, Claude Brown, Foster Kimpke, Albert Duncan, Stuart Lucabough and John Leese.

RICHARDSON TO SPEAK

William Richardson, president of the Gettysburg Travel Council, will present a program on "Tourism in Adams County" at the weekly dinner meeting of the Gettysburg Lions this evening at 6 o'clock at the Varsity Diner.

"HOW LONG IS LIFE?"

The minutes and the hours fly . . . like birds upon the wing . . . and we scarcely have a chance . . . to of their praises sing . . . each day is likened to a cloud . . . that moves across the sky . . . staying but a moment . . . then swiftly passing by . . . weeks are indeed as brittle leaves . . . that float upon a stream . . . drifting with the tides of life . . . and fading like a dream . . . months I compare to wanton waves . . . catapulting from the sea . . . spending their mighty force . . . to weaken you and me . . . years move along like evening's glow . . . soon they are out of sight . . . leaving only memories . . . that keep our spirits bright . . . so you can see life isn't long . . . it's very very short . . . this is a fact that mankind knows . . . and never can distort.

Churchill

QUEEN SENDS MESSAGE

The end was announced in a terse bulletin signed by his physician and lifelong friend, Lord Moran. At his bedside were Lady Churchill, his son, and his two daughters.

The queen, among the first to be informed of his death, immediately sent Lady Churchill this message:

"The news of Sir Winston's death caused inexpressible grief to me and my husband. We send our deepest sympathy to you and your family."

"The whole world is the poorer by the loss of his many-sided genius, while the survival of this country and the sister nations of the Commonwealth in the face of the greatest danger that has ever threatened them will be a perpetual memorial to his leadership, his vision, and his indomitable courage."

LARGE FUNERAL

The funeral is expected to bring together the largest concourse of statesmen since that of President John F. Kennedy in 1963.

Diplomats said President Charles de Gaulle has unofficially let it be known that he expects to come. They said the Soviet representative is likely to be President Anastas Mikoyan, whom Churchill knew well, or the new premier, Alexei N. Kosygin.

BIRTHPLACE BURIAL

It will be the first state funeral for a British commoner since that of Prime Minister William E. Gladstone 67 years ago. The service will be conducted by the archbishop of Canterbury, primate of the Church of England. Burial will be in the small country churchyard in Bladon, 70 miles northwest of London. It is on the great Blenheim estate, home of the dukes of Marlborough, where Churchill was born. His father, Lord Randolph Churchill, was a son of the seventh duke, and Sir Winston died on the 71st anniversary of Lord Randolph's death.

STUDENT AT MOUNT DIES OF INJURIES

A 21-year-old Mt. St. Mary's College senior died early Saturday in a one-car crash on the Sunshine Trail at the Beartown Curve.

Thomas M. Ellermeyer, Kittanning, was killed at 1:30 a.m. when his car plunged through the guard rails and dropped down a 30-foot embankment four miles east of Waynesboro.

His death was Franklin County's first highway fatality of 1965, the first in 64 days.

He was reportedly enroute to his home for the vacation between semesters at the Emmitsburg college.

SMASHED GUARD POSTS

State police said the young man was driving west on Route 16 and failed to negotiate a curve in the highway. His 1963 Rambler station wagon dashed through the wire guard cable, ripped loose some 200 feet of cable and smashed three wooden guard posts.

Thrown from the car as it hurtled down the embankment, Ellermeyer died instantly of a crushed skull.

The body was removed by ATH & L ambulance to the Grove Funeral Home and was removed later to the Snyder Funeral Home in Kittanning.

State police said the station wagon, valued at $1,800, was demolished. Loss to the Department of Highways cable and posts was placed at $75.

York Truck In Accident Here

A York man was the driver in a truck accident Saturday on the Lincoln Highway four miles west of here, it was reported by state police.

Officers said Charles S. Smith, 44, York, was driving a tractor-trailer east on the Lincoln Highway when the mishap occurred.

According to police, Smith was attempting to pass a car on the highway. At the same time a car ahead, parked along the right berm, pulled on to the highway, and the car Smith was passing veered to the left to avoid a collision.

Officers said Smith veered his rig to the left side of the road where it upset and the tractor caught fire. Smith stepped from the truck unhurt, according to officers.

Police declined to estimate damage to the tractor-trailer, owned by Miller's Motor Freight, of York.

was "not a matter of concern at all."

COUGH GONE

Reedy reported Sunday night, "The President is resting very comfortably. His cough is practically gone. He has no pain or distress of any kind."

The President said that his illness really amounted only to a sore throat, "but they call it by a fancy name." Now, he said, there is no discomfort in the throat.

The reason he agreed to enter the hospital at 2:50 a.m. Saturday, he said, was that half of the family was away and he could not object "if they wanted me to come out here where there are a lot of nice, pretty girls to wait on you."

MORE THAN 200 AT RECEPTION

More than 200 persons attended the farewell reception for Rev. and Mrs. Otto Kroeger in the parish hall of Zion Lutheran Church, Fairfield, Sunday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Kroeger has accepted a call to the First Lutheran Church, Chambersburg. He will assume that pastorate next Sunday after spending a week's vacation in Cincinnati.

The Kroegers were presented a cherry cupboard with $84 in cash on one of the shelves; a crystal punch bowl and 12 cups and a silver ladel and an electric carving knife.

The reception was given by the church council, Kermit Spence, president. Representatives from all the other churches in Fairfield joined in the reception. The clergymen present were Rev. and Mrs. Robert Paden, of St. John's United Church of Christ Church; Rev. and Mrs. Gerhard Klaassen of the Fairfield Memorial Church, and Rev. Fr. Daniel Mahoney, of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

The reception was from 3 until 5 o'clock. Rev. Kroeger responded briefly after the presentation of the gifts.

The Kroegers left this morning for a week's vacation and next Monday will move to 132 Harvest Lane, Guilford Hills, near Chambersburg.

Two Cars Slide Off Park Avenues

The ice storm Saturday night and Sunday caused a number of cars to skid off battlefield avenues. Two needed the service of tow trucks to return to the road.

Saturday night at 10 o'clock a car operated by Lee Lynch, 17, Hanover, skidded off the road on Corman Ave., near Spangler's Spring, and a tow truck had to be summoned. Sunday evening at 7 o'clock a car operated by Ronald Fox, 17, 29 E. Lincoln Ave., skidded off Sedgwick Ave. and a tow truck was required to get it back on the road.

There was no apparent damage to either the vehicles or to the park property. Chief Ranger John Rogers noted that since park roads are not treated with cinders or salt, they can be extremely slippery.

STOCKS MOVE UP

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved generally higher early this afternoon despite softness in some groups. Trading was moderately active. Gains and losses of leading issues were from fractions to a point or so. The trend was up for autos, steels, chemicals, building materials rails and electronics.

$19,000 FARM SALE

A 152-acre farm in Highland Twp. was sold at public sale on Saturday to Joseph M. Welty, Emmitsburg, and Robert W. Weikert, Fairfield, for $19,000. The sale was held by Howard A. Knouse as administrator of the estate of John E. Stoner. Personal property, including antiques, also were sold.

Mrs. A. W. Starner Dies On Saturday

Mrs. Annie May Starner, 82, widow of Alfred W. Starner, died Saturday morning at her home at Gardner's R. 2, after a short illness. She was a retired employee of Knouse Foods, Peach Glen, where she had worked for 30 years prior to her retirement in 1958.

She was a member of the Mt. Taboi EUB Church.

She is survived by two daughters and two sons, Mrs. Harry Butteroff, Mt. Holly Springs; Mrs. James A. Miller, Biglerville R. 1; Chester W., Mt. Holly Mounted Route, and Archie L., Gardner's R. 2; eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Hippiehamer, Carlisle.

which were installed on the roofs of the building during construction three years ago and which have not been satisfactory. The appropriation will include $12,000 to correct the situation.

The $5,000 appropriation for restoring and cleaning monuments is an annual request and at the present rate would spread the cleaning program over 30 to 40 years. However, Wing says, every effort is being made to accelerate the program with additional funds so that it can be established as a 20-year repeat program. More than 1,400 monuments and markers are located on the Gettysburg Park and are the responsibility of the local Park Service.

FUND FOR PARK LAND

A total of $26,031.00 was proposed for purchase of park lands. Allegheny Portage Railroad National Historic Site and Johnstown Flood National Historic Site, Pa., would get $320,000.

The Park Service provided this breakdown of the requested appropriations:

budget for this year was $51.2 billion, but Secretary Robert S. McNamara has whittled about $1 billion from it.

As Johnson prepared to send his budget to Congress, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., called for an end to federal deficits.

By July 1, he said, the federal government "will have operated in the red for 30 of 36 years." He predicted that the national debt, now $318 billion, "will go higher."

SOME CRITICISM

Byrd, who heads the Senate Finance Committee, criticized the system under which the budget is divided into a dozen or more separate bills, many of which permit spending over several years.

"Congress does not know whether it is authorizing a deficit, balancing the budget, or developing a surplus," Byrd's statement said.

He proposed that all spending authority be placed in a single package and then limited by the estimates of federal income or revenue during that same period.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The highest wages paid to agricultural laborers in England or on the Continent is thirty-seven cents a day, the laborer boarding himself, and the average is not more than twenty-cents a day. It is no wonder that emigrants flock to this country.

The Gettysburg National Bank has gone into operation. The board of directors and the officers of the Bank of Gettysburg have been continued. By a notice in our advertising column it will be seen that the Charter of the old Bank has been surrendered to the Commonwealth. The Bank of Gettysburg has been managed well for many years and as those who have controlled its operations hitherto are at work in the new arrangement, there is every reason to believe that it will be prosperous as heretofore.

Gen. Grant in a recent communication, thus refers to Gen. Sherman: "The world's history gives no record of his superior and but few equals." To this sentiment we may justly add that the world has never witnessed in any military chieftain more of the elements of generous candor and unselfish appreciation of the good qualities of those by whom he is surrounded, and who are necessarily his competitors for fame, than are daily exhibited by Lieut. Gen. U.S. Grant. His justice is as inflexible as his valor is invincible.

New Fractional Currency: New three cents fractional currency have just been issued. On the face, in the center, is a steel engraving of General Washington, under the words "Three cents." In the upper corner is the figure "3" under "E Pluribus Unum." In the lower corner, back of flowers, they bear the value of the note. On the opposite side, in a field of green, is the figure "3", under "III" in each corner.

Oil has been found in Fayette Co., Pa., and wells sunk to a depth of eighty feet, are now flowing a splendid quality of the greasy fluid. The oil fever is raging in Cambria county, where several companies have been organized to bore for oil.

Joseph Burke Jr., of McSherrytown, shot a large Otter in a small stream on the premises of Samuel G. Sneringer, which measured four feet seven inches and weighed 22 pounds. The Otter is becoming rare, and has always been highly valued because of the fineness of its fur.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The last week was an important one in political circles. On Wednesday President Harrison nominated to the Senate, David Kitzmiller for Postmaster of Gettysburg. On Tuesday, Internal Revenue Collector Friday appointed Hart Gilbert, Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue for Adams county; and nominated to the Secretary of the Treasury Wm. T. Jobe for appointment as a storekeeper and gauger and to be assigned to duty in York county near the border of Adams. All these places were sharply contested and some feeling has of course resulted. But as no criticism of the fitness of either of the appointees can be fairly made the resentments will naturally subside. Mr. Kitzmiller is to succeed on the expiration of his commission, Major Benner; and Mr. Gilbert will succeed on Feb-

Today's Talk

ON SAVING

Money isn't the most important thing to save. It is the least. Better to save your self-respect, your honor, your individual independence, your pride in being, and your health. These, and many more, are far better than gold. And their dividends are never passed!

He saves most who gives most away. Like clipping the blooms of flowers. One's pangs bed gives evidence of this statement. People who are forever distributing their blessings themselves are blessed.

Commerce is carried on successfully by constant interchange. What good would it do, and what a deathless savings, did manufacturers and all producers, merely hoard? Everything would become static and useless. There are those who think they save by paying the lowest salaries possible. They lose. The higher the salary the higher is the efficiency of the worker!

The saving of money, however, is a practical procedure, because it gives one a feeling of security, and helps to save one's self-respect. And when it comes to the making of an article of any sort, it cannot be made too well, with the best of materials. By buying the best, though it may cost more, you save in the long run and are better satisfied.

More people rust out than wear out. They put themselves into idle storage, thinking that is the way to prolong their lives. Such people are dead, and don't know it. Like drones they sleep their lives away. Bank yourself by giving yourself away to as many others as you can and you will learn what it is to live rich. The only kind of wealth of which we can proudly boast is the wealth that we plant all about us in people.

Never think that the one who courageously abides by his principles is sacrificing anything. He isn't. He's putting something aside that neither rust nor decay can ever touch. He is saving himself for a more important job, and for greater usefulness to his fellowman. And right here can be slipped in that immortal saying from the Bible: "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

ruary 1 Thomas G. Neely. Both these gentlemen have been faithful and obliging officers who now yield to Republican success the places they took from Republican predecessors.

Mr. Jobe has an excellent army record. He went out in the spring of 1861 with the Pennsylvania Reserves and served to the close of the war. He belongs to the York Springs district which has never wavered in devotion to Republican measures or Republican candidates. Mr. Jobe will succeed a citizen of York county now in the Internal Revenue service. In noticing Mr. Gilbert's resignation of his position in the Cumberland Valley State Normal School the Shippensburg Chronicle says: "Prof. Gilbert has been a popular and successful instructor at the Normal School, and his departure will be regretted by faculty and students."

The Business Men's Jubilee: The ladies of Christ Lutheran Church, assisted by ladies from other churches of the town, gave a novel entertainment in the Opera House on Friday evening. The proceeds are to be used in furnishing a room at the Seminary. This style of entertainment has been popular in the West and was given here for the first time. Each young lady dressed to advertise the house she represented and in well-turned rhymes extolled the wares offered there and urged the audience to buy at that place. The ladies came on in three divisions and before leaving each gave a well-executed march. The grand finale was a particularly pleasing and difficult figure. The proceeds amounted to more than ninety dollars.

W. N. Miller, the well-known marble cutter, died Sunday morning. He had had an attack of the grip and two weeks ago yesterday went to work on the College building. That evening he was seized with a severe chill and pneumonia developed. Mr. Miller lived in Gettysburg about twenty years and was highly respected. He leaves a widow and five children. He had his life insured for $2,000.

Predicts Negroes
Will Rejoin GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Massachusetts' Republican Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, a Negro, says he believes members of his race will return to the GOP as time goes on.

"I don't think it's going to take any great miracle," Brooke said today in a copy-righted interview in U.S. News & World Report.

"Negroes are getting more and more opportunities, are better educated, more interested in things other than civil rights," Brooke said.

Brooke, re-elected last fall despite a Democratic sweep of other state officers, said he didn't think it necessarily correct that the Negro had left the GOP.

"I'm convinced," he said, "that the Negro feels he is evicted from the Republican party."

Mansfield Pledges
Appalachian Speed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has decided on a get-well gift for President Johnson, hospitalized with a sore throat. The Montana Democrat suggested speedy action on the Johnson legislative program.

Mansfield said the Appalachia development bill and a water pollution measure should be reported out of committee this week, and that hearings on the administration's health care plan should be scheduled soon.

YORK COUNTY
GETS OK ON STATE PARK

The Hanover area will be the site of a third state park approved under the Project 70 program, it was learned Saturday. State Sen. Robert O. Beers said that Gov. William W. Scranton has approved the York County project.

A 3,315-acre park with a 1,275-acre lake will be built along the west branch of the Codorus Creek, including lands in Penn. Manheim, Heidelberg and West Manheim Twp.

In early plans, the Project 70 program has been classified as a regional state park and has been given the name "Codorus Creek." The estimated cost is $9,000,000 according to a study made two years ago.

BIGGER THAN PINCHOT

The park is to be a cooperative effort between the state Department of Forests and Waters and the P. H. Glatfelter Co., of Spring Grove, which will use much of the water as a reserve water supply.

According to plans, the Glatfelter Co. will build the dam at a cost of $4,500,000. Most of the land already has been purchased by the company and will be turned over to the state under a cooperative agreement.

The Codorus project is the third approved under the Project 70 program, with others previously approved being the Ohio area of Fayette County and the Tyler estate near Newtown, Bucks County.

The 13-billion-gallon lake, when full, will be about three times as large as the lake at Pinchot State Park, which covers 340 acres. Funds for the program will come from a $40,000,000 portion of Project 70 set aside for state parks.

THANT FAVORS
LONG RECESS
TO AVOID FIGHT

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U. Thant reportedly favors a two-month recess of the U.N. General Assembly if necessary to avoid a Soviet-American showdown over the Russians' vote in the assembly.

Diplomatic sources said that Thant would seek a recess to gain time for further negotiations if he failed to settle the dispute now. He is awaiting replies from two big powers to the latest proposal for a settlement.

A showdown can come whenever the assembly finishes its eight-week-old general policy debate, stops its voting moratorium and starts voting to elect a steering committee and adopt an agenda. The general debate should end Tuesday.

QUESTION OF WAIVER

The dispute concerns the U.N. Charter penalty of loss of vote for two years' non-payment of dues. The nub of it is whether the Russians should pay roughly $21.7 million before they are cleared of the penalty, or whether the penalty will be waived before they say how much they will pay.

Informed diplomats said the newest proposal would allow the Russians to vote after vaguely promising a "substantial contribution." At the same time it would safeguard the Americans' right to call for the penalty if the subsequent Soviet contribution fell short.

CHARTER PROVISION

Article 19 of the U.N. Charter says any member two years behind in its total assessments "shall have no vote in the assembly."

The Soviet Union and 12 other countries are that far behind for refusing to pay peacekeeping assessments voted by the assembly. They contend the Congo and Middle East operations should have been financed by Security Council action.

The United States has insisted that Article 19 be enforced but it has agreed that the delinquents can satisfy the article by making voluntary contributions toward U.N. solvency rather than paying the disputed assessments as such.

The Soviet Union has said it will make a "substantial" voluntary contribution but will not say how substantial until the assembly suspends article 19 for this session.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT
Though now it lies a month away
Why cannot people act as though
The spirit of the Christmas Day
Outlived the calendar we know?
Why not the city walk about
With smiles for one and all to see,
And now and then a neighbors shout
The wish their day will happy be?

At Christmas just a month ago.
With every window pane ablaze.
And tree with colored lights aglow
(Must that be just a Yuletide craze?)
For all, we had a work of cheer,
A smile for every passer-by,
If that works wonders one a year
Why let the Christmas spirit die?
If once a year for several days
We put our selfish nature by
To give ourselves to friendly ways
And smiling lip and twinkling eye
Why must we wait a whole year long
For fellowship and doing good
And love and merriment and song?
We could repeat it if we would.

$50 MILLION
PENNSYLVANIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another $17.5 million was requested by President Johnson today to continue work on the Allegheny River Dam and Reservoir in Pennsylvania and New York.

It was part of the $50,733,000 Johnson requested from Congress for flood control and navigation projects in Pennsylvania during the fiscal year which begins July 1.

Congress appropriated $27 million for the Allegheny River project during the last fiscal year.

The Allegheny River Dam at Kinzua, Pa., will back up a reservoir almost to Salamanca, N.Y.

OTHER PROJECTS

At the same time Johnson requested $4 million for work on the proposed Blanchard Reservoir in the Susquehanna River Basin in Central Pennsylvania and $1 million for the proposed Beltzville Reservoir in the Delaware River Basin.

Also requested was $2,263,000 to complete work on the Curwensville Reservoir, another Susquehanna Basin flood-control project, during the next fiscal year.

Other major Pennsylvania projects for which Johnson requested funds included the Shesango River Reservoir in Pennsylvania and New York, $6.1 million; the Union City Reservoir, $400,000; for advance engineering and design of the proposed Raystown Branch Reservoir in the Juniata River Basin, $560,000, and for advance engineering and design of the Tocks Island Dam and Reservoir on the Delaware River, $600,000.

ELUSIVE CAT IS CAPTURED

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The kids heard a lot about this cat and today, well, they got to see him.

The animal is the one that crawled inside a wall in the Sand Lake Elementary School library through an inspection opening.

The cat made his presence known, all right, but he wouldn't show himself for nearly a week. Finally, Betty Putnam, fourth-grade teacher, slipped on some gloves and pulled up a chair beside the hole.

She kept talking quietly to the cat and the animal crept closer. Suddenly Mrs. Putnam made a grab. She got what she wanted.

Today the 525 pupils at Sand Lake will look at the cat in their classrooms. All the rooms, that is, except the library.

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — A passenger train loaded with vacationers collided with a freight train southwest of Guatemala City Sunday, killing at least 33 persons and injuring several others.

Reports from the scene near the town of Amatitlan said the brakes on the passenger train apparently failed.

Ice And Snow Cause Many
Auto Accidents, Power
Failures In Wide Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Severe ice and snow storms which turned much of the Midwest and East into a mass of power failures, auto accidents, and school and road closings plagued residents from northern Illinois to New England today.

Cars skidded over ice-packed side streets. Power lines laden with ice snapped or were broken by falling tree limbs, leaving hundreds of communities without electricity.

Many hospital emergency rooms were jammed with victims of auto accidents and falls on icy sidewalks.

Adding to the troubles early this morning were new storms, dumping fresh snow on northern New England, freezing rain, sleet and snow on southern New England and light snow across much of the northern part of the nation.

CHICAGO HARD HIT

The Chicago area was one of the hardest hit. The Air Force canceled today's supersonic flights over the city, fearing that sonic booms could snap more power lines.

Thousands of utility workers labored through the day and night repairing damage caused by one of the worst ice storms in Chicago history.

Several public schools canceled classes for today and many families sat through a day of freezing weather without lights or heat.

Severe weather held a grip on the Northeast. Snow, sleet, freezing rain and strong winds played havoc with highways and air travel through wide stretches of the area.

FREEZING RAIN

Snow ranged up to a foot in southern New England, where sleet and freezing rain covered the snowfall.

A freezing rain in New York City applied a filmy coating atop two inches of sleet that fell Saturday night, making travel extremely dangerous.

The storm knocked out electric power to some 30,000 homes along Lake Erie in Ohio. The hardest hit area was in Ashtabula County, where 6,000 homes were without electricity.

About 50 families along the Huron River were evacuated when an ice jam near Sandusky raised the river to dangerous levels.

Winter also took a swipe at the Northwest.

A storm dropped nine inches of snow in the Spokane area over the weekend, bringing the total for the winter to 76 inches — the fourth heaviest for one season.

Police Seek Robbers
Of Cafritz Mansion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington police are pushing their hunt for four men who robbed socialite-hostess Gwen Cafritz at knife-point escaping with jewelry insured for $265,000.

Officers said it was the biggest haul in any Washington housebreaking within memory.

They said the bandits entered Mrs. Cafritz' 58-room mansion shortly after midnight Sunday. Police reported Mrs. Cafritz, widow of builder Morris Cafritz, was bound and gagged in her bedroom. She finally worked her way free and called police.

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Bolivia's military junta says it will hold elections Sept. 26 for president, vice president and congress.

Asks Funds For
2 Penna. Shrines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was asked today to provide funds for development of two newly created historical shrines in Pennsylvania—the Allegheny Portage National Historical Site and the Johnstown Flood National Memorial.

President Johnson's budget for the fiscal year which begins July 1, earmarks $511,500 for purchase of land and development of facilities at both sites.

The $320,000 for land purchases, however, would come from the land and water conservation fund created by Congress last year.

Fees charged at national parks, taxes on motorboat fuels and funds from the sale of federal surplus property are fed into the fund which the Interior Department estimated will total $125 million for the new fiscal year.

CELTICS BACK IN WINNING WAYS SUNDAY

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — "It's great to be a winner again," someone shouted in the Celtics' dressing room.

The Boston club, careening toward a record number of victories in a National Basketball Association season, didn't stop to mourn the end of a 16-game winning streak Saturday.

Instead, the seven-time world champions took it out on Los Angeles 117-93 Sunday, administering a stern lesson in the arts of basket making-and-stopping.

24TH WIN IN 26
The triumph was the 24th in the last 26 starts for Boston which at 42-8 is eight full games ahead of Eastern Division runner-up Cincinnati with 30 to play.

The Royals beat San Francisco 124-103 Sunday, enabling the Warriors to set a league mark for consecutive losses at 16. The Warriors had previously tied the old mark of 15 set by Denver in 1949.

In the other game played Sunday night, the Baltimore Bullets turned back the St. Louis Hawks 114-106.

The Celtics remain on target for 67 victories, seven better than the one-season high they established in 1960.

BOSTON'S HIGH MAN
Coach Red Auerbach discussed the anatomy of a streak on his team after the nationally televised battle was settled by a third-quarter blitz. Boston outscored the Lakers 16-2 in the final minutes of the period it dominated 31-19.

K. C. Jones set up five baskets and scored three. Hopping Tommy Heinsohn got seven points in the stretch and the Lakers, who had five times rallied to within a single point, were left breathless in the wake.

Sam Jones was Boston's high man with 27. Elgin Baylor collected 30 for Los Angeles but didn't have enough help.

SHORT OF RECORD
Boston was one short of the NBA winning streak record when it lost to Philadelphia 104-100 at Syracuse Saturday night. Did the loss ease any tension on the club?

"No," Auerbach said. "There is no pressure as such."

"These guys are all pros. When you get eight or nine in a row you don't even think about it. This team has done it so often."

AMERKS ROUT QUEBEC ACES

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The most lopsided victory of the American Hockey League season was no laughter for winning goalie Gerry Cheevers.

Rochester's Cheevers stopped 24 shots in the Amerks' 10-1 rout of Quebec Sunday night but one of them cost him a mouthful. The puck smashed five teeth. Cheevers retired to the dressing room for repairs and, after a one-half hour delay, returned to the cage.

Bronco Horvath's hat trick and six assists by Ed Litzenberger paced Rochester's attack in the meeting of AHL division leaders. The loss cut Quebec's Eastern lead to 10 points over oncoming Hershey, which whipped Pittsburgh 5-3 in an afternoon game.

Gordon Labossiere scored three goals in Baltimore's 5-3 verdict over Buffalo and Jimmy Anderson netted a pair as Springfield tripped Providence 4-1 in Sunday night's other action.

Fives were wank Saturday night, Baltimore blanking Pittsburgh 5-0, Hershey topping Quebec 5-3, Buffalo beating Cleveland 5-2 and Springfield upending Rochester by the same count.

AUSTRALIAN WINS CROSBY GOLF CLASSIC

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Bing Crosby's annual experiment in human endurance — his $84,500 golf tournament — is over and handsome Australian Bruce Crampton emerged the winner.

Today the golfers and their fans could discard their raincoats, greatcoats and all-weather gear after a weekend that must be known as the big blow-cold and rainy.

The skies turned bright Sunday afternoon, but not until they'd delivered a final brisk shower in the morning.

FIRST FOREIGNER
Next stop on the pro tour is the $55,000 Lucky International Open in San Francisco. "Crosby weather" may prevail there but it can't be worse than it was here.

Crampton, 29, who won the Australian open at age 20, is the first foreigner to win the Crosby.

He moved into the lead for the first time early in Sunday's round and finished with a three-under-par 69 and a three-under 284 for the 72 holes. It was worth $7,500.

LEMA WINS $4,000
Crampton whipped "The Monster," the Pebble Beach Golf course which is 6,320 yards of golfing chagrin and frustration with a par 36-36-72, in 32-37-69.

Tony Lema, the defending champion, finished with a 72 for 287. Jack Nicklaus, with a 71, and Bill Casper Jr. with a 72, tied at 288.

Lema won $4,000, Casper and Nicklaus each got $3,100. Arnold Palmer shot an 80 for a 302 total.

National Open champion Ken Venturi and PGA ruler Bobby Nichols failed to survive the 54-hole cut.

BOSTON BRUINS STOP TAILSPIN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
They may not be the toast of the town, but Boston's battered Bruins are all even with their uppy basketball neighbors, the Celtics, today.

The National Hockey League tailenders and the National Basketball Association pace-setters each own one game winning streaks.

The Bruins finally cornered the Montreal Canadiens Sunday, goalie Ed Johnston blanking the NHL leaders 3-0 to break a five-game Boston tailspin.

Earlier in the day at Boston Garden, the Celtics, whose 16-game NBA winning skein was snapped Saturday night, had rebounded for a runaway victory over Los Angeles.

Johnston stopped 30 Montreal shots for his third shutout of the season and Ab McDonald led the attack with his 100th career goal as Boston beat the Canadiens for the first time in nine meetings. Goals by Tom Wil-

DICK WEBER, ANN SLATTERY TOP BOWLERS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dick Weber of St. Louis and Ann Slattery of Salt Lake City spotted their opponents formidable leads in the opening game but battled back to win the championship matches at the $100,000 All-Star Bowling Tournament.

Weber won his third All-Star title Sunday by outscoring Jim St. John of Santa Clara, Calif., 608-586 in the three-game title match. St. John jumped off to a 34-pin lead when he outscored the champion 224-190 in the first game. But Weber came back with a 192-226 as St. John tapered off to 165 and 197 in the remaining games.

Weber, who pocketed $15,000, won the 1962 All-Star in Miami Beach and repeated the following year in Kansas City, Mo. He has the added satisfaction this year of being the first bowler in the tournament's 24-year history to win the qualifying trophy and the championship.

SANDY HOOPER LOSES
Mrs. Slattery won the $5,000 women's title by crushing pretty Sandy Hooper of Anaheim, Calif., 597-550, for three games.

Mrs. Hooper took a 26-pin lead when she shot 204 to Mrs. Slattery's 178 in the first game. Mrs. Slattery bounced back with 207 and 212, however, while Mrs. Hooper lost the range and shot 163 and 183.

Weber earned his berth in the title match by winning the American Division in the four-day 56-game round robin series which ended Saturday night. He compiled a record of 37 wins and 19 losses and averaged more than 216. St. John won the National Division with a 32 win and 24 lost record and a 213 plus average.

St. John's $8,000 second-place prize gives him an income of $15,500 from two tournaments conducted less than two months apart. He won the $7,500 World's Invitational Championship in Chicago last November.

JIM BROWN CHOSEN '64'S PRO ATHLETE
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — "This has been a great year — the championship and now this. Honestly I can't say which means more now. They're both great."

It was Jimmy Brown talking. The great fullback of the champion Cleveland Browns of the National Football League had just been named winner of the S. Rae Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year Award Sunday and the $10,000 diamond-studded, gold-buckled belt that goes with it.

The championship was Brown's first with the Browns since he came up as an All-American from Syracuse.

TWO MORE YEARS
"I would rather have the NFL title than any individual rushing championship," said the 28-year-old star who has captured the rushing crown in seven of the eight years he's been with the Browns.

"Winning the Hickok Belt this year truly surprised me," added Brown. "I thought I had a better chance in others years. This year we had so much talent — Frank Ryan, Paul Warfield, Gary Collins, and don't forget Dick Modzelewski."

Brown said he had two years to go on a three-year contract with the Browns.

"Then I'm going to call it a career," said Brown. "Two more years and I hope it will be two more championships. The championship gives you the most satisfaction."

LONDON (AP) — Former world lightweight champion Joe Brown of New Orleans, who is scheduled to fight in Cape Town, South Africa, next week, has withdrawn from a scheduled 10-round fight with London's Vic Andreotti Tuesday.

TOKYO (AP) — George Case, former player and coach of the American League's Washington Senators, will coach Japan's Chunichi Dragons, it was reported today.

liams and Forbes Kennedy, the latter on a solo dash while the Bruins were short-handed, padded the decision.

The second-place Chicago Black Hawks cut Montreal's lead to two points by staggering New York 7-2 and the Detroit Red Wings moved to within one point of third-place Toronto by beating the Maple Leafs 4-1 in Sunday's other games.

CEPEDA SIGNS WITH GIANTS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Orlando Cepeda, slugging first baseman of the San Francisco Giants, heads the list of players who signed contracts during the weekend for the 1965 baseball season.

Cepeda received a $2,000 raise, bringing his salary to about $55,000. Only Willie Mays, who earns $105,000, has a bigger salary on the team.

The Puerto Rican led the Giants with a .304 batting average last year, adding 31 homers and 97 runs batted in. He said his right knee is okay after an operation in New York last month.

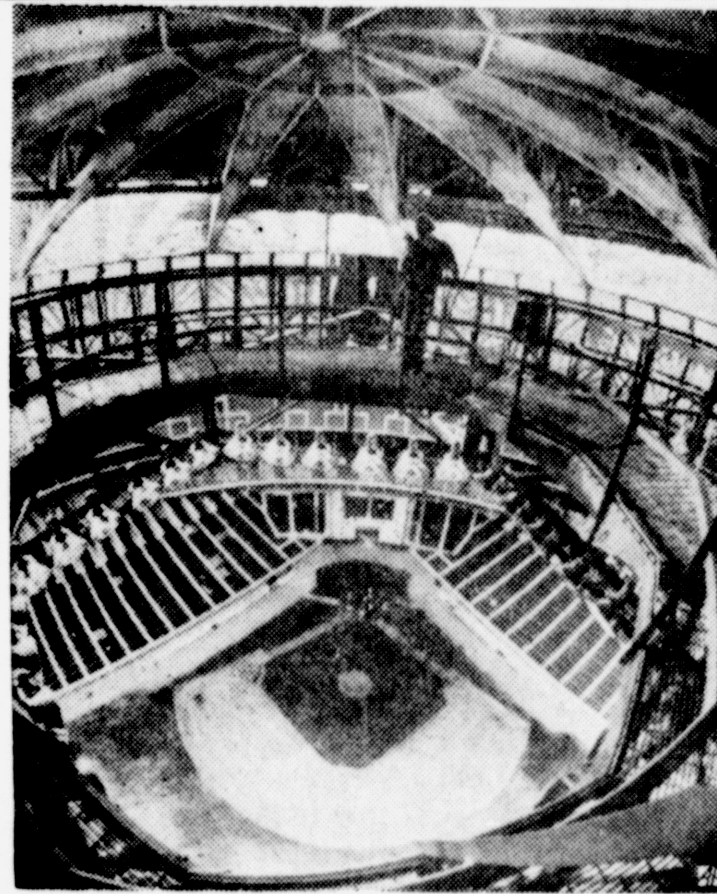

Other National League signees were second baseman Bill Mazeroski and relief pitcher Roy Face of Pittsburgh, outfielder Ty Cline of Milwaukee and five New York Mets — outfielder Billy Cowan and pitchers Tom Parsons, Darrell Sutherland, Dick Selma, Jerry Hinsley and Frank McGraw.

In the American League, outfielder Tom Tresh and pitcher Bill Stafford signed with New York while Jim Fregosi agreed to a reported $31,500 contract with the Los Angeles Angels.

YOUNG UPSETS BILLY MILLS IN L.A. MEET

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Schoolteacher George Young was chosen athlete of the meet after his upset of veteran distance runner Lt. Billy Mills and little Gerry Lindgren in the Los Angeles Invitational Indoor Track Meet.

Young, who set an American steeplechase record at the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo, surprised the Marine officer and 18-year-old Lindgren by taking the two-mile run Saturday night.

The 27-year-old Young, of Casa Grande, Ariz., sprinted the final quarter in 58.3 for an easy victory.

Wyomia Tyus of Tennessee State set an American women's record of 6.7 in the 60-yard dash. Miss Tyus won the 100 meters at the Olympics.

Ralph Boston of the Southern California Striders sailed 26 feet, 5 inches in the long jump for victory, and Bill Crothers of Canada took the 600-yard run.

Dyrol Burleson of Oregon captured the mile in a slow 4:07.2, unheralded Earl McCulloch won the 60-yard hurdles in 7.2 as Rex Cawley, 400-meter hurdles gold medalist in the Olympics, was second, and Jack Yerman of the Santa Clara Youth Village finished first in the 500-yard dash with a 59.0 clocking mile Mike Larrabee, 400-meter winner at Tokyo, was last.

BIG MO STOKES IS IMPROVING AFTER 7 YEARS

CINCINNATI (AP) — Today was a big day for Maurice Stokes, a cheerful and determined young man despite a seven-year illness.

His courageous fight for recovery inched a step forward when the former basketball star was moved across town to another hospital — where he hopes to learn to walk and feed himself again.

His recovery, however, is a long way off.

HAS NEW HOPE
Big Mo, now 31, was on his way to becoming one of the great stars in the National Basketball Association when, in March, 1958, he was stricken with post-traumatic encephalitis or sleeping sickness, which has left him paralyzed ever since.

He's determined to get well. Stokes has spent the last 6 1/2 years in Christ Hospital, most of the time either lying or sitting helplessly in a private room. Today he was moved to Good Samaritan to make use of the $300,000 physical rehabilitation program there.

"He's looking forward to this very much," said Stokes' good friend, Jack Twyman of the Cincinnati Royals.

Twyman said Stokes' over-all progress is good.

ICY HIGHWAYS HELP TO BOOST ACCIDENT TOLL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least three accidents were attributed to icy road conditions which plagued Pennsylvania this weekend, as the state recorded 11 traffic deaths.

In addition, a Canadian was killed when felled by a tree near Waynesburg and a 14-month-old Kittanning boy was found dead in his crib, apparently suffocated.

The tabulating period for the accidental deaths began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

HIT BY SKIDDING CAR

The victims included: JOHNSTOWN — Umberto D'Amore, 73, of Johnstown, killed Sunday by a car which skidded on a road in Johnstown.

JOHNSON HAD FRANTIC WEEK BEFORE OATH

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fast-paced inaugural week of work, ceremonies and parties preceded President Johnson's entrance into the hospital early Saturday.

Johnson, now suffering from what his doctor described as a "respiratory disease" had refrained from wearing a topcoat during his oath-taking at the Capitol in chill weather Wednesday and stood for almost three hours on the parade reviewing stand in his suit coat and without a hat.

Both places were warmed by electric heaters but were still cold and drafty. The reviewing stand was cool enough that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, standing beside Johnson, did don his coat and scarf for awhile.

The President also stopped his motorcade returning from the Capitol to hop out on Constitution Avenue and walk briskly over to greet the members of the band from his alma mater, Southwest Texas State College, who were marching in the parade.

He had capped Wednesday's festivities by going to — and dancing at — each of five inaugural balls.

The President, who suffered a heart attack in 1955 had even assisted Margaret Truman Daniel in clambering over the rail of a ballroom box so the daughter of the former president could dance with him at the Mayflower Hotel.

There, he changed partners 10 times, as he danced to old Glenn

Discolored Nails: Stains under and around the nails, however stubborn, can be removed with soap and hydrogen peroxide. Just give the nails a sudsy scrub and, before rinsing, apply the peroxide with a cotton swab.

Ragged Cuticles. This trouble results from scissoring the cuticle. It soon becomes neat and manageable, when it is oiled daily and pushed back with a towel or orangewood stick after every hand washing.

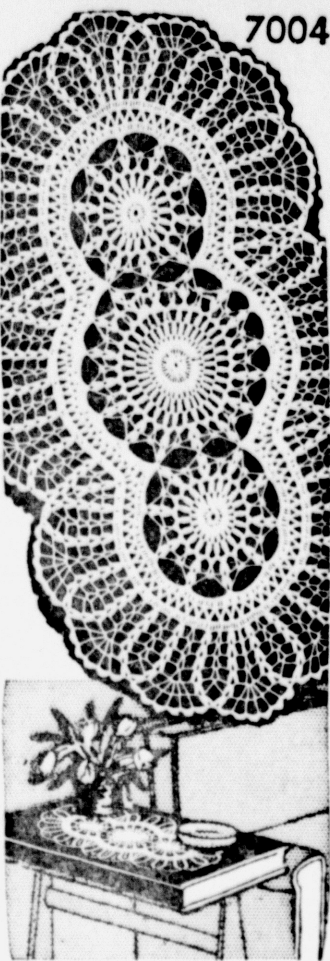

White Spots Under Nails. A "salting" of white spots signals a physical disturbance. A single spot is attributable to external injury and it will grow out with the nail. It can be covered, meanwhile, with enamel.

Brown Spots On Hands. Whether characterized as freckles or liver spots, the marks fade somewhat when treated with cosmetic bleaches. As exposure to sun accentuates the condition, the hands must be protected from it.

PLYMOUTH VALLEY, Pa. (AP)—A 42-year-old housewife faces court action on a charge of corrupting the morals of minors after police said they found four cases of empty beer bottles and 20 teen-agers in her home.

Justice of the Peace Nicholas Danella held Mrs. Gretchen Kaplan on $500 bail for court action Saturday. She and the 20 teen-agers were arrested shortly after midnight Friday.

Fifteen of the teen-agers, aged 16 and 17, were each assessed $25 in fines and $9 costs on charges of violating a law which makes it illegal for a minor to possess and consume alcoholic drinks.

The other five, all 18, were released until they have a hearing.

Police said the defendants were from Plymouth Valley, Norristown, Hathboro, Warminster, Wayne, Newtown Square and Berwyn.

James MARLOW Reports

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the long view, what was accomplished by President John F. Kennedy's inauguration four years ago and President Johnson's Wednesday may not seem much. But there was progress.

Kennedy had no illusions when he took office Jan. 20, 1961, about what could be done, for he said: The problems facing the nation might not be solved "in our lifetime." Johnson hasn't set a timetable, either.

That he intends to push is clear. He has already hit Congress with major programs before it is back at work a month.

He has promised to go overseas as part of his search for solutions, as Kennedy did.

GOT MORE DONE

But Kennedy apparently got more done sitting in the White House, than by his travels. It was there he arranged the limited nuclear test-ban treaty and made the showdown decision on the Cuban missile crisis.

Johnson, remembering that and some of the emptiness of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's trips, can have no illusions about the magic of summit meetings.

In any four-year period a thousand events mushroom into headlines. When time blows the clouds away just a few can be discerned as major achievements. Two were outstanding in foreign affairs: The limited test-ban treaty and the missile crisis. But there were ominous events, too.

The treaty, signed by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union, made the world healthier to live in. But neither France nor Red China, both on the road to nuclear power, signed.

Since China had its first atomic explosion last year, the speed bly if necessary to avoid a U.S.-Soviet showdown.

NATIONAL

Massive ice and snow storms cause accidents, power failures, school and highway closings in Eastern and Midwestern areas. Officials continue investigating the examination cheating scandal at the Air Force Academy.

Young Herman is a mixed-up rooster. This bird thinks a rubber ball is his mother.

of its progress in this field is menacing by itself, even though for some years it may not have deliverable weapons.

When Kennedy forced Premier Khrushchev to take his missiles out of Cuba, he left no doubt, if the Russians had any, this country would go to war if necessary. Then American-Soviet relations improved, tensions eased.

NATO RICKETY

On the debit side the American-backed war in Viet Nam against communism was dwindling in chaos. This had its own somber implications. A Communist victory may end with Red China running all Southeast Asia in time.

The NATO alliance was getting rickety when Kennedy took over. This hasn't improved. The United Nations got itself into the ludicrous position of arguing over its members' obligations, particularly the Soviet Union's, to pay their dues.

There were two major achievements at home from the joint effort of two presidents and Congress.

4 MAIN PROGRAMS

Kennedy had sought approval of four programs above all: An $11.5-billion tax cut, biggest in history; a civil rights bill, strongest in this century; federal aid to education; medical care for the aged through Social Security.

He got none of them through Congress but his successor, Johnson, pushed hard and got the first two. This year Congress had hardly returned before he told them he wants the other two. And he may get them.

No less significant in these past four years, although less tangible, was the voters' rejection of Sen. Barry Goldwater's particular brand of conservatism and their approval of the much more moderate Johnson.

DIRECTION CLEAR
Since this was the first time in at least a generation the voters had such a clear-cut choice between those two schools of thought and government, the direction in this country seems clear for years.

A continuation of the Kennedy-Johnson kind of foreign policy and the increasing role of the government in American life, particularly in taking a greater responsibility for the general welfare, with all that means.

Churchill Recognized As One Of The Most Distinguished Statesmen In The World

By RELMAN MORIN

Associated Press Staff Writer
"I felt as if I were walking with Destiny . . ."

It was long after midnight when the man in the War Room finally rose from his desk. He had lost all sense of time. He was alone. He stared once more at the map on the wall, a huge map of France and the Low Countries. The symbols on its plastic surface — arrows, numbered squares, jagged lines — had been changing steadily all day. Each change showed the mounting disaster in sharper colors.

Winston Churchill studied the map for a long moment.

Then, abruptly, he switched off the lights, drew the blackout curtains, and opened a window. London was dark and still, a vast pool of silence. At that moment, Big Ben tolled. Three times, the solemn, deep-throated tones echoed through the city.

Three o'clock in the morning . . . May 11, 1940.

With good reason, he would forever remember this hour. It was the end of his first day as Prime Minister.

STUDY IN BRILLIANCE

In that office, his astonishing qualities burst into full brilliance. Even before then, Churchill had been many men — soldier, historian, political leader, administrator in government, master orator.

But it was not until he became Prime Minister that he achieved his complete greatness and emerged as one of the most extraordinary figures in human history.

He loved physical danger and consciously sought it in battle and adventure. Yet he was a man of study, of writing, of deep probing in politics and history, philosophy and religion.

He was imperious, hard-riding, a ruthless driver. Yet tears filled his eyes when he saw a dock worker's bombed-out home.

He became "Good Old Winnie," revered around the world. But before that, he was scorned and reviled, a man with so many enemies that, when they broke him, he could only say, "I am finished."

He was an aristocrat, a believer in Empire, a defender of the Crown. Yet no voice spoke more clearly than his in support of democracy and the values of freedom.

Churchill was born Nov. 30, 1874.

SPANNED TWO ERAS

Thus, his life spanned two far-removed eras, from the Boer War to the Cold War, from the coach-and-four to the satellite in space.

He served five British sovereigns, and sat in the House of Commons continuously, except for his death.

Twice, he held the office of Prime Minister. His first term ran from May 10, 1940, to July 26, 1945. The first general election in Britain after the war brought him defeat. Then he was re-elected Oct. 26, 1951, and remained in office until April 5, 1955, when he retired.

He was 65 when he became Prime Minister for the first time. It came about in the first hours after the German attack across the Rhine on May 10, 1940.

For months, Hitler's armies had been active, coiled behind the Siegfried Line. Suddenly, they struck. With unbelievable speed, the Panzer divisions rolled toward Paris, toward the Channel, toward a flat and undistinguished stretch of beach that would live forever in history as "Dunkirk."

The Battle of Europe thus began in disaster for the Western Allies.

HOPE FULFILLED

When the news reached London, it brought a political crisis. Party leaders quickly met and agreed to end the government of Neville Chamberlain. Churchill, then serving as first lord of the admiralty, attended this conference.

He suspected — and fervently hoped — that he might be called to succeed Chamberlain.

A few hours later, King George VI summoned him to Buckingham Palace. British-fashion, they met the crisis with some dead-pan banter. "I don't suppose you know why I sent for you," the King said.

"Sir, I couldn't possibly imagine."

They both laughed. The King then formally asked Churchill to form a government. It was a supremely dangerous hour.

Years later, Churchill described his emotions:

"I felt as if I were walking with Destiny, and that all my past life had been but a preparation for this hour and for this trial."

FAILURE IMPOSSIBLE
Yet he said that when he left his office, at 3 a.m. the next morning, "I slept soundly . . . I was confident I would not fail."

Soon, the nation heard his hard, unvarnished declaration of stewardship:

"I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat. . . . And the tremendous blast of defiance:

"We shall defend our island whatever the cost may be. We shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills. We shall never surrender."

He was in the full vigor of life then, at 65, a powerhouse of drive and energy.

Sir Winston Churchill visited his friend former President Eisenhower at his farm here on May 6, 1959. The two men became close friends during the second world war when Eisenhower was commander-in-chief of the largest army in the history of the world. The two men conferred frequently during those years. While here Churchill appeared in robust health but he also walked with some difficulty and said only one word which reporters heard. When he was asked what he thought of the Eisenhower farm Churchill did not answer. He was prompted by Eisenhower and then in a feeble voice said, what reporters thought was, "fine." The two photographs were taken at the farm by an Associated Press photographer.

Church was short, big-bodied, heavy as a tank. A few wisps of white hair fringed his bulldog head. His eyes were blue and shrewd. He had a jutting chin. A protruding lower lip often gave him the expression of a petulant child.

HAS SLIGHT LISP

He stood and walked with a slight forward stoop, as though weighed down by his massive head. He spoke with a slight lisp, so that "soldiers," for example, usually came out "sholjers."

An oversize cigar, held at a jaunty angle, and the famous V-sign that he made with his fingers, with special hallmarks.

He played high-goal polo as a young man and took pride in another hobby, brick-laying. He occasionally played gin rummy. But his most important hobby was painting, and critics have praised his work.

He liked wine and brandy, fine horses, choice food. "Winston's tastes are simple," a friend said. "He likes only the best."

Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill was a full-blooded man. He packed many lives into his many years.

"I was only a backward boy . . . Winston Churchill was largely self-educated. Neither his immense knowledge of history, politics and warfare nor his mastery of English prose came from formal schooling.

"I remained (in the same class) three times as long as any one else," he said.

Twice, he failed to qualify for Sandhurst, the British military academy, and only made it on the third try. He graduated eighth in a class of 150.

He said he found himself tongue-tied and shy with his father, Lord Randolph Churchill. "I was only a backward boy and my incursions into the conversation were always awkward and foolish."

PATERNAL WARNING

He recalled that his father "warned me of the danger in which I plainly lay of becoming a social wastrel. I was pained."

Yet, this was the man who stirred millions of people with his powerful language, steeling them for the harshest trials of war and disaster. This was the man who won a Nobel Prize for literature, and who was called, by the editor of his account of World War II, "the finest writer I ever knew."

How did this come about? Churchill said simply, "The desire of learning came upon me."

He was in his early 20s then, a lieutenant in the Fourth Hussars, on station in India. He said he suddenly felt inadequate about words. He found himself using terms without knowing what they meant; "ethics," for instance.

"Of tactics, I had a grip. On politics, I had a view. But ethics . . . I resolved to read history, philosophy, economics."

This would have surprised his father.

Lord Randolph had marked out a brilliant career in government, himself. But he told his friends privately that he did not consider his son clever enough for politics or the law.

MILITANT ANCESTORS

Instead, he pointed the boy for the army. There was a strong family precedent for this. One of Churchill's ancestors was the Duke of Marlborough, victor in the Battle of Blenheim.

Churchill was born in Blenheim Palace. The year was 1874, and the first of all the many words written about him appeared in the births column of the newspapers: "On the 30th of November, at Blenheim Palace, the Lady Randolph Churchill, prematurely, of a son."

His mother was an American, the former Jeanette Jerome, a famous beauty of New York. Churchill wrote of her: "She made a brilliant impression upon my childhood life. She shone for me like the evening star. I loved her dearly but at a distance. She always seemed to me like a fairy princess."

Churchill was next in the line of succession for the title, Duke of Marlborough. The American heiress, Consuelo Vanderbilt, who herself became the duchess, said in her memoirs that the duke's grandmother sternly informed her:

"Your first duty is to have a child and it must be a son, because it would be intolerable to have that little upstart, Winston, become duke."

In school, his classmates called him "Carrots," because of the color of his hair. One of them said Churchill "was always an individualist and feared no one, master or student."

THIRST FOR KNOWLEDGE
He disliked schooling and was happy in the army. And then, as a cavalry officer in India, "the desire of learning" came. He wrote home to his mother for books.

He fell under the spell of Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." Thomas Macaulay became an idol. In the style of writing that later became known as "Churchillian," there are strong flavors of both Gibbon and Macaulay.

He also read Plutarch and Plato from philosophy, the path led directly to religion. He came upon the "higher criticism" and the skeptics. For a time, they affected his thinking:

"I passed through a violent and aggressive anti-religious phase," he said.

However, combat taught him the lesson soldiers have been learning since the beginning of war. He wrote:

"POISE WAS RESTORED"
"My poise was restored during the next years by frequent contact with danger. I did not hesitate to ask for special protection when about to come under the fire of the enemy, nor to be sincerely grateful when I came home."

Once his doubts disappeared, a quiet conviction came. Churchill said he saw no necessity for trying to reconcile the Bible with science and history.

"If you are the recipient of a message which cheers your heart and fortifies your soul, which promises reunion with those you have loved in a world of larger opportunity and wider sympathies, why should you worry about the shape or color of the travel-stained envelope?"

"The idea that nothing is true except what we comprehend is silly," he said.

Under the stimulus of reading and study, Lt. Churchill of the Bengal Lancers began writing himself. His first efforts came as a war correspondent for some London newspapers. He expanded the dispatches into books about the colonial wars. He even tried his hand at a novel, "Savrola," but did not like it. "I strongly advised my friends not to read it," he said. They complied in large numbers.

EARLY DECISION
But long before — and apparently without knowledge of his parents — Churchill himself had decided on politics as his métier.

As a boy, he conceived the idea of entering Parliament at his father's side and pictured them fighting political battles together. The dream was destined never to be realized. Lord Randolph died.

"All my dreams . . . were ended," Churchill wrote. "There remained only for me to pursue his aims and vindicate his memory."

At 13, he set his sights. In a conversation with Churchill, the Prince of Wales jokingly asked him, "How would you like to be Prince of Wales?"

The boy replied, "I would rather be prime minister."

"I was looking for trouble." As a young cavalry officer, Winston Churchill went hunting adventure and found the path to political power. An escapade led directly to his first seat in the House of Commons.

Churchill began his army career in the Bengal Lancers in India. He saw some action there, but not enough to suit him. "Like most young fools," he said, "I was looking for trouble."

So he spent his own money, used his mother's influence in Whitehall, and schemed and connived to get transfers to battle areas wherever they might be.

He fought Pathans on the Northwest frontier. Dervishes in the Egyptian desert. Boers in South Africa. He rode in one of the last great cavalry charges, at the Battle of Omdurman, in Egypt.

LUCKY IN WAR
He was consistently lucky in battle.

At Omdurman, a Dervish charged him and had a spear at his throat. Churchill killed the man in India, he was nearly cut off with a small detachment in the Boer War he braved an artillery barrage attempting to free an armored train. In France, during World War I, a shell hit a dugout just after he left it.

"I love life," he wrote, "but I am not afraid to die."

Early in his army career, he began writing about the campaign. His name became known in England for war correspondence. He even received a "fan letter" from the Prince of Wales.

One reason for this prominence was that — although only a very junior officer — Churchill bravely criticized generals, said their campaigns were badly conducted, and described how he would have handled the enemy.

A London newspaper re-titled one of his books "A Second Lieutenant's Hints to the General." During the Boer War his reports of blundering and disaster brought the acid comment from a London writer, "There is no report as yet that the War Office has assigned Lt. Churchill to command."

EARLY FAME
The net effect, however, was to bring Churchill a good measure of a reporter's fleeting fame, and to prepare the way for his real career.

When the Boer War began, Churchill hurried to the scene as a correspondent for the London Morning Post. He was not in the army then.

He was aboard the armored train when the Boers cut it off. Louis Botha, who later became Prime Minister of his country, was the soldier who captured Churchill in the confused affray.

"It isn't every day that we catch the son of an English lord," a Boer remarked. Churchill was herded into a military prison. He promptly went over the wall on a dark night and escaped.

For days, he wandered through enemy territory with a price on his head — 25 pounds, dead or alive. Sheer luck led him to a compatriot, the only Englishman for miles around living in Boer country.

This man hid him in a coal mine. Then, under a pile of sacks, he rode a train to Portuguese territory and freedom.

The news of his escape made sensational reading in London. It was just the sort of derring-do to capture the imagination of the British. For months, they had been reading for nothing but defeat and humiliation in the fighting.

Churchill came home to a hero's welcome.

He cashed in on it by running for Parliament. This was not his first try; he had been defeated once before.

But now, as a war hero, 11 districts bid for him as their candidate. He chose the scene of his original defeat, Oldham. This time he won.

The year was 1900. He was 25.

METEORIC RISE
At 31, he was under-secretary of state for the colonies; at 33, a Cabinet minister heading the Board of Trade (the equivalent of the U. S. Department of Commerce); at 35, home secretary; at 36, first lord of the admiralty. And at 40 — out!

Overnight, his career crumbled into ruin. He himself thought it was wrecked beyond salvage. "I am finished," he said.

The immediate cause of his downfall came from the disastrous Dardanelles campaign of World War I. Churchill had conceived the plan. The generals and admirals had opposed it. Hence, when it failed, his enemies pinned the blame on him and forced him to resign.

But pressures had been building up against Churchill long before this. He was a strong-minded man.

Someone said of him, as first lord of the admiralty, "He is knocking over admirals like ten-pins." Some of the "ten-pins" were waiting to knock back.

He not only ran his own Cabinet department, but flooded others with memoranda and suggestions. Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, observed:

MAN WITH IDEAS
"Winston very soon will be incapable, from sheer activity of mind, of being anything in a cabinet but prime minister."

At the same time he was a political maverick.

He broke with the Conservative party once and crossed over to the Liberals. He ran for Parliament as an "anti-socialist" and lost. Then he tried again as a "Constitutionalist" and won.

A political leader said of Churchill, "He is a formidable opponent, but I would rather have him as an opponent than on my side."

Far from worrying him, Churchill thrived on political controversy. "Even at his wedding, Winston began talking politics in the vestry."

MARRIED IN 1908
In 1908, he married Clementine Ogilvy Hozier, granddaughter of the Earl of Airlie. One son and four daughters were born to them.

Churchill called his wife "Clemmy." In his autobiography, he said, "I married and lived happily ever after."

In the fateful summer of 1914, war began in Europe. Britain did not immediately come in.

Churchill however cancelled the usual summer maneuvers of the fleet, ostensibly to save money. Further, without obtaining Cabinet approval, he ordered mobilization of the reserves.

The result was that when Britain swung majestically into line beside the other Allies, the fleet was ready to move from stations in the North Sea. Churchill unleashed it with a terse message: "Commence hostilities against Germany."

Official German naval records paid him the highest tribute. His action, they noted, gave Britain "an extensive military advantage . . . which Germany could not counter or overtake."

That and more was forgotten, however, in the disaster at the Dardanelles.

Churchill's enemies called him a "self-advertiser" and a "medal snatcher." A hostile newspaper asserted:

"He sees himself as the only digit in the sum of things; all other men are mere ciphers. Indulged by the larger opportunity of a world-wide war his instinct for the melodramatic has blossomed into megalomania."

In a mighty speech in the House of Commons Churchill defended the strategy of the Dardanelles plan. He argued — and many professionals agree — that it was especially sound but failed because of faulty execution. Nevertheless he had to leave office. "I am finished," he said.

"Shall we all commit suicide?" In the barefaced 1930s, during the era of dictators, Winston Churchill was an "out." He was out of office, out of public favor, virtually a political pariah.

Consequently, his incessant warnings against the policies of the Western democracies in dealing with Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini fell for the most part on deaf ears. Time and again, he rose in the House of Commons to protest all the implications of the fateful word, "appeasement."

Once, in a fury of anger and frustration he cried out, "Shall we all commit suicide?"

But his prestige was gone in those years, and he had no influence on British policy. His friend the late Viscount Norwich, wrote:

"It is hardly too much to say that if he had died in 1939 at the age of 65, he would have been recorded as one of those brilliant failures whose names litter the pages of history and are soon forgotten."

Apart from the penalty for playing Cassandra prophesies of doom, in matters of foreign policy, Churchill deliberately aligned himself with a lost cause on another front — the conflict raging around King Edward VIII's determination to marry a slim dark-haired American divorcee, Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin won his Cabinet, Parliament, and a majority of British newspapers inexorably opposed the King. For a practical politician, there was little to be gained in becoming his champion.

WAS A MONARCHIST
Churchill, however, was a monarchist. He cherished the Crown. He had studied deeply in the history of its constitutional relationships.

So, returning from a lecture tour in the United States, he wrote the famous letter to Baldwin, "I plead for time and patience."

Events rushed toward a climax. The King, as Duke of Windsor, later wrote:

"Although my advisors and I realized there was nothing to be gained by prolonging the unequal contest, Mr. Churchill at this late hour still insisted that more remained to be said. He strode into the House of Commons on the Monday afternoon, undaunted and quite alone, to launch his attack."

The memorable scene of Mr. Churchill being howled down has often been described.

The King abdicated. To the weight of Churchill's previous unpopularity now was added this wracking defeat. The Duke described Churchill's position now as that of "an outcast."

FORTUNE WEARS MASK
But fortune often wears a mask. Years later, Churchill saw the disasters of this period in a different light:

"This was not the first time — or indeed the last — that I have received a blessing in what at the time was a very effective disguise," he said. "Now, one can see how lucky I was. Over me beat the invisible wings."

As an "outcast," he bore no responsibility for the policies that led to World War II. On the contrary, he was identified in the public mind as the one man who called for action against Hitler and Mussolini before it was too late.

When the day of reckoning came, with Hitler's attack on Poland in September, 1939, Churchill stood vindicated. Immediately, he was summoned to office, as first lord of the admiralty.

In a three-word message, flashed to the fleet, some unknown genius crammed a world of meaning, it said:

WINSTON IS BACK
"Winston is back."

Six months later, as the Nazi hordes swept closer to Britain's shores, the nation called him to the admiralty to the highest office, prime minister.

There began his "finest hour."

Disaster closed in rapidly, disaster in the Low Countries, disaster in the Ardennes Mountains and all of France, disaster at Dunkirk.

Soon Britain was standing alone, momentarily awaiting invasion. The Channel, historic bulwark, seemed pitifully narrow now.

The position was desperate. Churchill, taunting the Nazis, later told them just how desperate it was. "We had not at that time 50 tanks," he said. "We had a couple of hundred field guns, some of them brought out of museums."

Almost singlehanded, he kept the torch of courage and determination flaming in Britain. He was an emotional powerhouse.

TIRELESS LEADER
Up and down the land he went, exhorting the people urging them to stand firm. He rallied them everywhere, making them feel that the humblest toil in home and factory was invested with a special heroism in these dangerous hours.

He cheered them with speeches, the prediction that future historians would say of the British, "This was their finest hour."

And with epithets. Hitler, he said, was "a bloodthirsty gutter-snipe," and Mussolini "a whipped jackal."

He was careless of his personal safety. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower wrote, "he never ceased to show great concern for my safety, although paying absolutely no attention to his own. His single apparent desire, during an air raid, was to visit his daughter, Mary, then serving in an aircraft battery protecting London."

He even planned, secretly, to land in Normandy on D-Day. The King, discovering his intention, quietly frustrated him.

He blossomed on the danger, long hours, and work. When Field Marshal Montgomery said he was "100 per cent fit" because he neither drank nor smoke, Churchill retorted, "Well, I smoke and drink, and I am 200 per cent fit."

By 1941, both the United States and Russia were in the war and the final issue became only a matter of time.

CLOSE TO FDR
Churchill developed the closest personal relations with President Roosevelt, whom he called "this great man." Nearly 2,000 messages passed between them. "The chief business between our two countries was virtually conducted by these personal exchanges," he said.

Very early, he foresaw the new and greater danger that would confront the world for many years after the war — Russia.

Shortly before the Potsdam Conference, Churchill sent a long message to President Truman. It contained the first known use of a famous phrase. He wrote:

"An Iron Curtain is drawn upon their (the Russian) front. We do not know what is going on behind. 'Surely it is vital now to come to an understanding with Russia before we weaken our armies mortally. This issue of a settlement with Russia before our strength is gone seems to me to dwarf all others.'"

" . . . The last prize I seek to win."

A flavor of sheer melodrama, as though concocted by a second-rate writer, surrounds the summer of 1945. Two months after the surrender of Germany, as Winston Churchill stood at the very pinnacle of triumph, the British people threw him out of office.

Contrasts Sir Winston With Napoleon And Hitler

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — For a thousand years, the descendants of this century's generations will examine the life of Sir Winston Churchill to find why he was one of the most beloved figures in history.

They should have no trouble. They will read his speeches, they will look at television reruns of the chubby man in a derby poking around battlefields with a cane, they will grin at his growl.

"CONTEMPORARY MAN"

But, they will understand him, just as the outnumbered Greeks at Marathon would have understood him 400 years before Christ, for he was and will remain the contemporary man of all seasons.

He was more than the symbol of the unquenchable human spirit's determination to die rather than submit. His enemy, Hitler, had that in a perverted kind of way: he shot himself when the Allies were closing in.

Churchill was more than a symbol of the ageless search for victory in the ashes of disaster. So was Napoleon, as the world learned to its regret in his last blood-soaked journey from Elba to Waterloo.

OVERRIDING HOPE

He was a symbol of something else, too, just as precious and discernible in those years of the 1940s when the world was consumed by fright and fury in the oven of war.

It was his ever-present and always overriding hope that life could be better than man's endless savagery might indicate or, perhaps, even deserve.

He put it this way: "The future towards which we are marching, across bloody fields and frightful manifestations of destruction, must surely be based upon the broad and simple virtues and upon the nobility of mankind."

NO ILLUSIONS

Not that he had any illusions about mankind. He simply had the hope that with enough time and sufficient chance men might do better.

For he also said: "I believe that, generally speaking, given free institutions on a fair basis, the best side of man's nature will in the end surely come uppermost. But this doctrine has its limits."

He had limits of his own, even in the field of the free institutions he dreamed of, for to preserve the British Empire he opposed independence for India. But his limits and defects were

HIS ATTRIBUTES

The people of good will in his time saw in him a kind of human being they would be glad to be: the wit, the eloquence, the courage, the persistence against adversity, and the belief in the future.

They saw something else also and this was the essence of Churchill: He was a civilized and compassionate man who cherished peace through reason but was realistic enough to know sometimes only strength could make it possible.

This can be seen best when he is painted against the shadow of the other two most famous figures of the modern age: Hitler and Napoleon. One was a leader, the others were conquerors.

CONFLICTING VIEWS

All three were mediocre students. All three had been soldiers. But all three had something else in common, too: they had ached for power all their lives. It was how they wished to use it that made the difference.

Hitler said: "I did not come into the world to make men better but make use of their weaknesses."

Napoleon said: "There is nothing like summary courts-martial to keep the lower classes and the rabble in line."

Churchill said: "In my country public men are proud to be the servants of the state and would be ashamed to be its masters."

Hitler's regime was the most cruel in history. One of Napoleon's biographers said, "His genius was based on the pedestal of a million corpses."

President Kennedy said of Churchill: "Indifferent himself to danger, he wept over the sorrows of others. He has served all men's freedom and dignity."

Expects GOP To Make Gains

HARRISBURG (AP) — The new House Republican leader, U.S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford, says the heavy Democratic majority in Congress is not necessarily an obstacle to GOP aspirations.

"This country can solve its problems at home and abroad, but we Republicans do not necessarily have to accept the recommendations of the Johnson administration," he said.

The Michigan legislator, speaking at a news conference Saturday, said the majority enjoyed by the Democrats might hurt them as much as help them.

Ford, who was in town to address a training school sponsored by the Young Republicans of Pennsylvania, said the Democrats might be tempted to

FLY U. S. FLAG HALF-STAFF FOR "WINNIE"

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation heaped unprecedented honor and unstinted praise today on Sir Winston Churchill, whom President Johnson called "history's child."

Johnson ordered the American flag to be flown at half staff through Saturday wherever it appears, on government buildings and on ships on the seven seas, in mourning for the British statesman who died Sunday.

So far as anybody could determine this is the first time such an honor has been accorded to a foreigner. But then, many thought, Churchill was not a foreigner. Wasn't he half American — through his American mother? And did not Congress, which listened enthralled to the British leader in the dark days succeeding Pearl Harbor, endow him with honorary American citizenship?

MAY ATTEND FUNERAL

On his hospital bed President Johnson vowed to fly to the funeral in London Saturday, if the doctors were at all willing. Johnson had this statement issued:

"When there was darkness in the world, and hope was low in the hearts of men, a generous Providence gave us Winston Churchill."

"As long as men tell about that time of terrible danger and of the men who won the victory, the name of Churchill will live. 'Let us give thanks that we knew him. With our grief let there be gratitude for a life so fully lived, for services so splendid, and for the joys he gave by the joy he took in all he did.'"

"WILL PRAY"

"The people of the United States — his cousins and his fellow-citizens — will pray with his British countrymen for God's eternal blessing on this man, and for comfort to his family."

"He is history's child, and what he said and what he did will never die."

Johnson, despite his uncomfortable cold, had issued orders that if Churchill died, he was to be notified immediately. Thus it was that the sad tidings were brought to him at 3:50 a.m. by CPO Thomas Mills at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

The President sent personal messages of sympathy to Lady Churchill, Queen Elizabeth II and Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

"over-exercise" their authority during the current session.

As a result, he said, the public might resent the display of power and vote in more Republican in next year's congressional elections.

Homesick Cat Finds Way To Old Home

SEMINOLE Okla. (AP) — Tired from a long trip, Thurm was given a free ride home Sunday by commercial airplane.

Thurm is a foot-sore Siamese cat. Six weeks ago his mistress, Mrs. Jim Robertson, moved to a new house in St. Louis, Mo. Then Thurm disappeared.

That was the last he was seen until he turned up here at the home of Mrs. Robertson's mother, Mrs. E. A. Cummings. Mrs. Cummings said Thurm had made the 450-mile trip by car before, and evidently remembered the way.

Thurm was put aboard an airliner at Oklahoma City by Mrs. Cummings for the trip home.

DEATHS

NEW YORK (AP) — Stephen Francis Voorhees, 86, an architect who designed many famous buildings including the old Times Tower in New York's Times Square, died Saturday.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Morton P. Gudebrod, 56, former Associated Press foreign correspondent and author, died of cancer Saturday. Gudebrod served as correspondent in London and Paris during World War II and later wrote for the Stars and Stripes, daily newspaper of the U.S. armed forces.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Walter C. Cox, 86, a noted genealogist, died Saturday. Cox founded and was board chairman of W. C. Cox & Co., an international probate research firm of Chicago and Tucson.

NEWARK N.J. (AP) — Mark Silver, 72, Pulitzer Prize winning composer of Jewish liturgical music, died Saturday. Silver, a native of Russia, won the Pulitzer traveling prize in 1917 for his general excellence.

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Vincent E. Burkey Sr., 49, of York, was pronounced dead at York Hospital Saturday after a car he was operating ran off a street here, and plowed through some bushes before coming to a stop. Authorities said it was believed he suffered a heart attack just before the accident.

WOODWARD: In sad but loving remembrance of our dear mother, Hattie B. Woodward, who departed this life 12 years ago, March 26.

Only those who have lost can tell.
Of the grief that's borne in silence
For the one we loved so well.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear,
And those who think of her today
Are the ones who will always love her forever and a day.

TV NETWORKS DEVOTE TIME TO CHURCHILL

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks were ready Sunday with special programs honoring Sir Winston Churchill.

CBS reached the air first, at noon, with a warm and moving summary of the long career of the giant of a man whose death is felt by man, even those who never saw him in the flesh, as a personal loss.

NBC's hour came in mid-afternoon, a more formal and perhaps less emotional program. The ABC special Sunday evening stressed the character of the wartime leader and, in its approach, stayed rather close to Churchill's public image, and the events of his latter years.

LIGHTER MOMENTS

All three, noted the most famous of the prime minister's remarks — his reference to an "iron curtain," the great "blood, tears, toil and sweat" statement. Once again we heard the familiar voice angrily growing defiance to the Nazi enemy and, in a proud voice, speaking of Britain's finest hour.

There were also the delightful lighter moments, many of which CBS picked up, when his wit sparkled and, in a change of mood, when he was unashamedly overcome with emotion. Eric Severide, summing up, called Churchill a "Renaissance figure," a man of many parts, many interests.

CBS, which repeated its program Sunday evening, plans another hour tonight, "Some Friends of Winston Churchill," which will include a tape, never before broadcast, of a conversation the statesman had with Edward R. Murrow almost five years ago. CBS sent Walter Cronkite to California for an interview with Dwight D. Eisenhower about his wartime associate.

The network postponed indefinitely its scheduled Sunday night broadcast of Gian-Carlo Menotti's new opera, "Martin's Lie."

Recommended tonight: "The Stars Ghosts of England," NBC, 10-11 EST — a filmed visit to some of the spectre-haunted English homes with Margaret Rutherford as tour guide: "Some Friends of Winston Churchill," 10-11 CBS.

World News

CAIRO (AP)—The Organization of African Unity's economic commission Saturday urged all African nations to tighten the trade boycott against South Africa for its race segregation policies.

Noting that some African governments had increased trade with South Africa, the commission asked that every measure be taken to make the boycott more effective.

Communist Chinese Ambassador Chen Chia Kang denied a claim by the Kenyan delegation that Red China had increased trade with South Africa during 1963.

MANILA (AP) — Police Saturday reportedly seized equipment and wire stolen from the U.S. Clark Air base after a gun battle with the thieves.

Philippine news service said the stolen items were valued at $7,500. It said one suspect was captured. There were no casualties.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Warning that the Chinese Communists must be wiped out before they are able to deliver nuclear bombs, President Chiang Kai-shek renewed an appeal Saturday for support to regain mainland China.

"We hope the free world will give us positive support so that we can quickly begin our counter-offensive before the Reds have time to complete their development of nuclear weapons," he said in a message to a rally attended by 15,000 persons.

UMW MARKS 75TH BIRTHDAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventy-five years ago, 198 coal miners gathered in old City Hall in Columbus, Ohio.

It was the beginning of the United Mine Workers of America Union, founded on Sunday, Jan. 24, 1890.

The UMW observed its 75th birthday Sunday, urging a drive to organize all coal miners into the union.

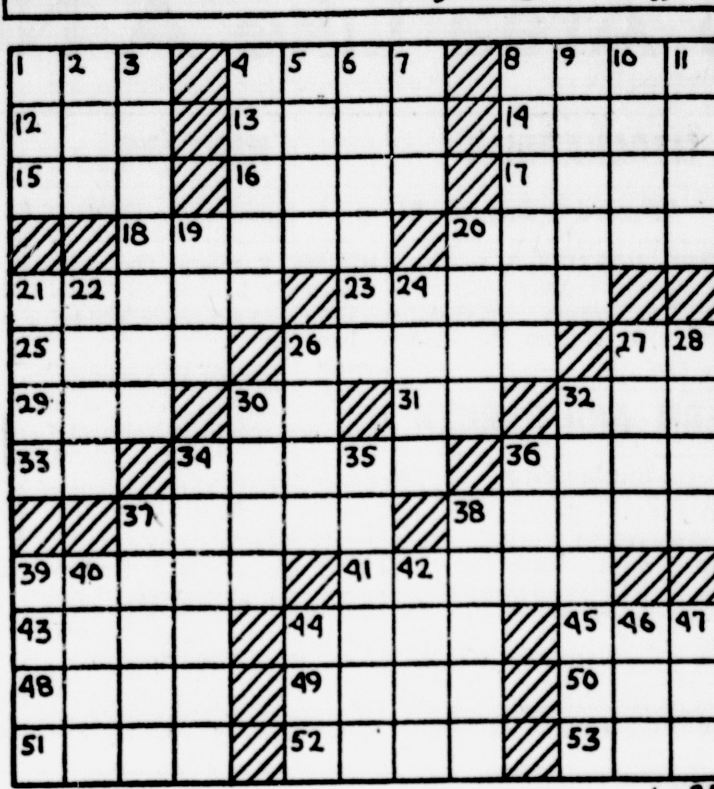

W. A. (Tony) Boyle, the 11th president of the independent union, said the 198 miners who gathered in Columbus had a dream.

"Today," he added, "much of that dream has become reality. Our fight today is the same as it was in 1890, to organize and bring under the great banner of the United Mine Workers of America all coal miners who toil within our jurisdiction."

The union estimates that the 145,000 miners it represents make up about 80 per cent of those working in the coal fields of 20 states, including Pennsylvania, and Canada.

WOULD SLASH GLASS IMPORT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., planned to introduce bills today that would ban glass imports from Communist countries and place restrictions on the use of building materials from Communist nations.

Scott's proposed bills would: —Prohibit imports of flat glass from any country or area dominated by Communism. —Prohibit the use of products produced in Communist-dominated areas in federal or federally aided projects. —Ban the use of such products in any housing construction aided under programs administered by the Housing and Home Finance Agency and the Veterans' Administration. This would include the FHA and VA guaranteed home loans.

Scott said it makes no sense for the United States to allow imports from Communist countries to compete with hard-pressed domestic industries. He said that during the first nine months of 1964, Communist-produced flat glass worth $1,322,921 came into the United States. He said Russia sent in $244,393 worth of it. Scott added that the flat glass was priced 50 or more per cent below domestic prices.

TO MOVE EMPLOYEES

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) —The Army Medical Supply Support Activity will be moved to the Valley Forge General Hospital from Brooklyn, N.Y., between April 15 and June 30. Forty-five additional civilian employees and 11 officers will come to Valley Forge in the transfer, announced Saturday.

ASKS P. O. FUNDS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today to appropriate $6,732,000 for construction of a courthouse and federal office building at Harrisburg, Pa.

The structure would be built by the General Services Administration.

COLD DOWNS PA. GOVERNOR

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Gov. Scranton was confined to bed today for the second straight day, suffering with what was described as a heavy cold. "Everything is improved including his temperature," a spokesman said Sunday night. "He is resting all right. It will be at least Wednesday before he leaves home."

Scranton's illness coincides with the reconvening of the state legislature which opens its session today following a 20-day recess.

A spokesman for the chief executive said Scranton had suffered from various aches usually associated with a bad cold and with an upper respiratory congestion.

The governor at one time had a temperature of 102 degrees. Scranton first mentioned discomfort aboard a plane Friday night while returning from Pittsburgh, the spokesman said.

PLAN SERVICE FOR CHURCHILL

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A memorial service will be held Friday in the Church of the Holy Trinity on Rittenhouse Square for Sir Winston Churchill, who died in London Sunday. Thomas S. Tuli, British consul general here, said Sunday the service is being arranged by the Right Rev. Robert L. De Witt, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania, and the Rev. Cuthbert Pratt, rector of the church. Those planning to attend include representatives of the city, state and federal governments. The service also is open to the public.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.
